Madison firefighters respond to 2 fires

BY THE COURIER STAFF

An electrical fire Saturday night on Madison's hilltop was contained to a small area of the roof and ceiling as well as some smoke damage and there were no injuries.

Shortly before 6 p.m. Saturday, Madison Fire Department responded to the 2700 block of Springwood Drive in Madison for an initial report of a carbon monoxide alarm activation after a dual-purpose detector alerted to the presence of smoke and/or carbon monoxide.

The resident initially thought the alarm was a carbon monoxide incident, but upon arrival, firefighters reported smoke coming from the gable vents of the residence.

All occupants and pets had exited the structure prior to arrival of Madison Fire Department and the fire was extinguished and smoldering insulation was removed from the house.

Records indicate the home's owner is Jacklyn Davis. The cause of the fire was determined to be electrical.

"This is a great reminder that working smoke detectors save lives," Madison Fire Chief Bill DeVries said of the dual-purpose detector that alerted of the issue.

City turns switch on holiday season

Plenty of events on tap throughout community

BY BOB DEMAREE

The holiday season in Madison officially kicked off Friday with the annual Light Up Madison event at the Broadway Fountain.

"What a great crowd!" said Madison Mayor Bob Courtney. "The last couple of years have been hard but we've made it through the gauntlet and it's so great to be here."

People gathered around the Broadway Fountain to see the colorful lights switched on while checking out the downtown business district. "Merry Christmas, shop local," said Courtney. "We have great shops, restaurants and businesses here. Let's support Madison."

Courtney commented how "beautiful" the decorations were, and commended the work of everyone involved in getting Madison decorated for the holidays.

"This event wouldn't be possible without all the hard work from everybody here in town," noting the efforts of Hannah Fagen, community relations director, along with "our fantastic City of Madison street department who makes downtown Madison and the hilltop beautiful."

He also noted the contributions of Visit Madison Inc., Madison Main Street and the Jefferson County Board of Tourism, along with "all our local city and county elected officials."

U.S. Supreme Court set for all-or-nothing abortion fight

BY MARK SHERMAN
ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON — Both sides are telling the Supreme Court there's no middle ground in Wednesday's showdown over abortion. The justices can either reaffirm the constitutional right to an abortion or wipe it away altogether.

Roe v. Wade, the landmark 1973 ruling that declared a nationwide right to abortion, is facing its most serious challenge in 30 years in front of a court with a 6-3 conservative majority that has been remade by three appointees of President Donald Trump.

"There are no half measures here," said Sherif Girgis, a Notre Dame law professor who once served as a law clerk for Justice Samuel Alito.

A ruling that overturned Roe and the 1992 case of Planned Parenthood v. Casey would lead to outright bans or severe restrictions on abortion in 26 states, according to the Guttmacher Institute, a resewarch organization that supports abortion rights.

The case being argued Wednesday comes from Mississippi, where a 2018 law would ban abortions after 15 weeks of pregnancy, well before viability. The Supreme Court has never allowed states to ban abortion before the point at roughly 24 weeks when a fetus can survive outside the womb.

The justices are separately

Resources for depression

ANNIE LANE
DEAR ANNIE

Dear Annie: Please tell "Ready to Die" that she can get disability payments because she has a mental health disorder. The problem is that people tell the disability examiners how badly they feel. But that is not the examiner's job to assess. They want to know how dysfunctional your daily life is.

I am writing to offer suggestions to her and others who suffer from mental health issues but do not know how to secure disability benefits.

For instance, let's take depression and how she might answer questions posed by the examiner: Can you drive yourself to the doctor? No, I can't drive. Do you keep your house clean? Yes, but it takes me two weeks to vacuum the floor. The dishes pile up until they smell, so I only use paper plates and plastic silverware. Do you go grocery shopping? No, but a neighbor picks up what I need. I don't eat much.

Here are some examples of how she might address manic phases: Can you drive? Sometimes, but I speed and can't concentrate on safety. Do you clean your house? Yes, but I stay awake for three days and then fall back into lethargy. Do you dress yourself? Yes, but I throw on anything that's on the floor. Sometimes, people laugh at me for how I'm dressed.

People with mental illness need someone to practice with them before they are examined. They are focused on their suffering, for good reason.

Find an experienced disability lawyer. They can often help you to prepare for an examiner's interview. Some attorneys might be sleazy, but there are also some fine, dedicated lawyers. Your case will move forward much more quickly, even if that feels like a long time. Remember that when you do get Social Security Disability Insurance, they will pay from the date of the application, not the date of approval.

Get a case manager or someone to help you through this process. Any psychiatric records are helpful. Do not say you drink, or whatever, to medicate. The way you should frame it is to explain that you have an addiction problem.

So many individuals fail to get the benefits they are entitled to because not even most therapists or psychiatrists understand how this system works. — Ph.D.

Dear Ph.D.: I always love when professionals reach out with advice, including the next letter about finding a psychiatrist and an attorney.

Dear Annie: This is about the unfortunate individual with severe treatment-resistant depression, who will definitely qualify for total and permanent disability.

She should see a competent psychiatrist ASAP, and they will help her with the most modern effective management of depression.

In addition, they will be able to write appropriate letters to the Social Security Administration and other agencies so that she will receive total permanent medical disability, which she richly deserves. — Right to an Attorney

Dear Right: Thank you for sharing your advice. Let's hope it helps all readers who are suffering from depression and who have, so far, not been able to secure disability payments.

Unanswered prayers

ANNIE LANE
DEAR ANNIE

Dear Annie: This letter is addressed to all those who think back on a first love and believe their feelings are undiminished.

I did that and had the ability to discreetly check back on that love. I found that he had told his wife he was glad he married her because he never could have married an independent woman, which is what I am. I also found out that he had spent the last several years of his life in a facility as an Alzheimer's patient.

There's a country song with the lyrics "thank God for unanswered prayers." I certainly did. Sometimes, the past shouldn't become the present. — I'm Thankful

Dear Thankful: Yes, living in the past or fantasizing about what might have been with a love from our youth seems to be a part of human nature, but it can be a dangerous part if taken to extremes. As you discovered, you were right to let it go.

Dear Annie: I've never written to an advice column, but I read them often. I am writing now because one letter spoke to me so loudly. It was from the woman whose husband was not listening when she talked to him.

My husband and I are under 40, and this has been my problem. There is no physical hearing loss issue with him, but my husband is finally exploring getting tested for attention deficit disorder. He doesn't listen to me, and I have to repeat things constantly. Sometimes, he repeats exactly what I just said as if it were a brand-new thought.

He says "OK" and "mm hmm" as if he is listening, but I know that his entire brain just wandered away.

It only happens when he's talking with me, and not at work or with friends. There have been many fights. It is a constant topic at therapy as it reaches the point where it feels like gaslighting, when he claims I'm lying about having said something three times already.

I hope your reader will consider seeing a therapist to convey how this makes her feel. She may be at an age where she doesn't want to explore the ADD side, but guided therapy can help. — Selective Hearing

Dear Selective: ADD can certainly be a cause of a person not being able to focus on what the other is saying. Thank you for sharing your experience.

Dear Annie: The letter from "Ready to Die" has me in tears. As a mom of a bipolar child, I just want to give him/her a hug, some soup and a good lawyer. Is there a way we readers can help them? — Want to Help

Dear Want to Help: Your letter alone will do something to help all of those who are suffering know that they are not alone.

Continue helping your son or daughter, and maybe start a group for moms of children with bipolar disorder and reach out to others suffering in similar situations.

Dear Readers: As the holidays are here and approaching, let's all be kinder to each other and take better care of one another. With the pandemic, it has been a very difficult almost two years for lots of people. Smile more; be more generous with your love and forgiveness.

Madison police busy with arrests over holiday weekend

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Madison Police had a busy holiday weekend with seven arrests on narcotics-related charges including an arrest on Sunday that included a short pursuit.

On Sunday, as Madison Police officers attempted to take Joanne Michelle Gotts, 44, Madison, into custody, she fled in her vehicle. The pursuit was short as Gotts pulled off the edge of the roadway shortly after it began and was taken into custody without further incident.

Gotts, who officers had prior knowledge of with an active warrant for her arrest, had been observed on Cross Avenue by patrol officers Kayla Taylor-Moore and Jared Sweet.

She was charged with Possession of Methamphetamine, a Level 6 felony; Possession of a Schedule Drug, a Level 6 felony, and Possession of Paraphernalia, a Class C misdemeanor. The active warrants were for Contempt of Court and Failure to Appear, both Level 6 felonies.

Joanne Gotts | Suzanna Babiarz-Humes | Ryan Eric Brown | Kaitlyn Elise Long | Patricia Ann Carson | Jacqueline Alexis Robak | Nathan Ryan Smith

On Saturday, Suzanna Leigh Babiarz-Humes, 32 and Ryan Eric Brown, 43, both of Madison, and Kaitlyn Elise Long, 29, of Louisville, were arrested on various narcotic-related charges following a traffic stop on West Clifty Drive.

Brown fled from MPD Patrolman Curtis Shelpman, on foot during the initial traffic stop before Shelpman was able to take him into custody with assistance from K-9 Colt and his handler, Trent Smith, along with assistance by Jefferson County Deputy Brian Muldoon. Colt gave his handler a positive indication for the presence of narcotics in the vehicle and during the subsequent search, drugs were located.

Babiarz-Humes faces preliminary charges of Possession of Methamphetamine, a Level 6 felony, Possession of Paraphernalia, a Class A misdemeanor, and Possession of Legend Drug, a Class A misdemeanor. Long faces preliminary alleged charges of Possession of Methamphetamine, a Level 6 felony and Possession of Paraphernalia, a Class A misdemeanor. Brown faces preliminary charges of Felon in Possession of a Firearm, Possession of Methamphetamine and Possession of a Legend Drug, all Level 5 felonies; and Resisting Arrest and Possession of Paraphernalia, both Class A misdemeanors.

Also on Saturday, Patricia A. Carson, 47, of Bedford, Kentucky, was arrested on East Street following a traffic stop in which narcotics were discovered. Carson has been charged wit Possession of Methamphetamine, a Level 6 felony; Possession of Marijuana, a Class B misdemeanor; and Possession of Paraphernalia, a Class C misdemeanor. The investigation also included K-9 Colt and Patrolman Smith, Captain Season Jackson and Shelpman.

On Friday, a traffic stop led to the arrest of Jacqueline Alexis Robak, 26, of Madison, and Nathan Ryan Smith, 34, Bedford, Kentucky, on State Road 62 near U.S. 421. K-9 Officer Smith and his partner Colt conducted an open air sniff of the vehicle with Colt giving a positive indication for the presence of narcotics. During the subsequent search, methamphetamine was located.

Both Robak and Smith face preliminary charges of Possession of Methamphetamine and Possession of a Syringe, both Level 6 felonies.

Shelpman led the investigation and was assisted by Smith and Sgt. Aaron Watson.

Milton firefighters were dispatched to the scene at 5:26 p.m., and upon arrival found smoke coming from the roof of the two-story structure. Entry was made into the second floor rear door and the fire was located in the bedroom closet and extinguished.

"not a cause for panic" and said he was not considering any widespread U.S. lockdown. He urged Americans anew to get fully vaccinated, including booster shots, and return to face masks indoors in public settings to slow any spread.

Speaking Monday at the White House, Biden said it was inevitable that the new variant would reach the U.S., but he also said the country has the tools necessary to protect Americans — particularly the approved vaccines and booster shots.

When omicron arrives, and it will, Biden said, America will "face this new threat just as we've faced those that have come before it."

He appealed to the roughly 80 million unvaccinated Americans aged 5 and up to get their shots, and for the rest of the country to seek out booster shots six months after their second dose. He also encouraged everyone to get back to wearing face masks in all indoor public settings — a pandemic precaution that has fallen out of use across much of the country.

ABORTION

weighing disputes over Texas' much earlier abortion ban, at roughly six weeks, though those cases turn on the unique structure of the law and how it can be challenged in court, not the abortion right. Still, abortion rights advocates were troubled by the court's 5-4 vote in September to allow the Texas law, which relies on citizen lawsuits to enforce it, to take effect in the first place.

"This is the most worried I've ever been," said Shannon Brewer, who runs the only abortion clinic in Mississippi, the Jackson Women's Health Organization.

The clinic offers abortions up to 16 weeks of pregnancy and about 10% of abortions it performs take place after the 15th week, Brewer said.

She also noted that since the Texas law took effect, the clinic has seen a substantial increase in patients, operating five days or six days a week instead of two or three.

Lower courts blocked the Mississippi law, as they have other abortion bans that employ traditional enforcement methods by state and local officials.

The Supreme Court had never before even agreed to hear a case over a pre-viability abortion ban. But after Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg's death last year and her replacement by Justice Amy Coney Barrett, the third of Trump's appointees, the court said it would take up the case.

Trump had pledged to appoint "pro-life justices" and predicted they would lead the way in overturning the abortion rulings. Only one justice, Clarence Thomas, has publicly called for Roe to be overruled.

The court could uphold the Mississippi law without explicitly overruling Roe and Casey, an outcome that would satisfy neither side.

Abortion-rights advocates say that result would amount to the same thing as an outright ruling overturning the earlier cases because it would erase the rationale undergirding nearly a half-century of Supreme Court law.

"A decision upholding this ban is tantamount to overruling Roe. The ban prohibits abortion around two months before viability," said Julie Rikelman, who will argue the case for the clinic.

Hanover women honor Riggles with win over Centre

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

Hanover women's basketball honored and remembered Lexi Riggles in the best way it could, by going out and getting a win.

Hanover began Sunday's home opener against Centre by honoring their fallen teammate then promptly played a first quarter worth forgetting. The Panthers then quickly recovered, erased a 13-point deficit by halftime and held on for a 69-65 victory.

"Mentally, it's been a draining week. They all knew how we were going to honor her today and I think maybe they felt some of the pressure of getting it done right," Hanover coach John Jones said. "That was the most mentally out of it I've seen one of our teams in a long time and they haven't shown that in practice at all. But I think what we did was the right thing. I think how we approached the week and how we honored her today was the right thing."

Riggles, a senior, died unexpectedly on Oct. 17, just three and half weeks before the season opener. After taking a few days off, the Panther program went back to work and played their first three games of the season on the road. Sunday was Hanover's first chance to honor Riggles in front of a home crowd.

After presenting a commemorative ball to Riggles' father, draping her No. 10 jersey over an empty chair on the bench, and holding a moment of silence for reflection, the Panthers took the floor with Riggles in the starting lineup. After winning the tip, they then held the ball 10 seconds more as a final tribute.

The 21-year-old senior from Danville, Indiana, who died in October, was remembered before the Panthers' home opener at Collier Arena. Right: Hanover freshman Katherine Benter (34) goes hard to the basket during the Panthers' win over Centre at home on Sunday.

Centre scored off that initial turnover and with Hanover in disarray, quickly took over the game. The Colonels led 12-2 six minutes into the game and took a 24-13 lead into the second quarter.

Hanover was just 4-of-15 from the floor in that initial quarter and looked lost offensively. Jones said he wasn't surprised by the start.

"I think nerves had a lot to do with the first quarter because there was no cohesion at all. I mean zero," Jones said. "We didn't know what offenses we were in. We didn't know. We just threw the ball up there at the end of the shot clock and prayed it went in."

Little by little, Hanover came around and began to find its footing. After Centre built its biggest lead of the game at 28-15 on a Payton Herold jumper with 7:29 left in the second quarter, the Panthers began chipping away.

Sophomores Reese Sexton and Kiki Crabtree were the catalysts to the comeback. Sexton scored all 10 of her points over a three-minute burst and Crabtree provided energy off the bench as Hanover ripped off a 19-5 run to pull ahead 34-33 with 28 seconds left in the first half. It was Crabtree's steal and fast-break layup that pushed Hanover over the top.

Centre (2-3) recovered enough to get a Presley Chirico layup with 10 seconds to go to take a 35-34 lead into halftime, but the momentum had shifted firmly to the Panthers.

"In that second quarter we started getting into our rhythm a little bit," Jones said. "I thought (Centre) did a really good job of adding a token press to just slow us down and get us out of our transition game because, you know, our transition game's pretty good."

The two teams traded the lead over the next quarter and a half with Hanover leading 53-50 at the quarter break. Freshman Katherine Benter finally put the Panthers up for good with a 3-pointer at 6:03 left in the game and Hanover was able to keep a two-possession lead the rest of the way to score the win.

Benter led the Panthers with 12 points while Sexton, Liz Tynan and Keaton Chastain each scored 10. Sexton also had four assists and three steals while Anna Bauer had 10 rebounds and Graze Bezold had nine.

Herold scored 20 points and Natalie Duggins had 19 to lead Centre.

Hanover, now 3-1 on the season, traveled to Spalding on Monday for the second game of back-to-back non-conference contests before hosting Bluffton on Saturday in its Heartland Collegiate Athletic Conference opener.

Commonwealth teams ready for full season

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

After an abbreviated 2020-21 season due to the COVID-19 pandemic, Kentucky high schools are ready for a full season of basketball starting this week.

All four local Kentucky high school basketball teams will open the season — some coming in with high expectations and others firmly in rebuilding mode — this week. A closer look at all four teams:

Stephanie Hellmann

CARROLL COUNTY JUNIOR COURTNEY STRICKLAND

CARROLL COUNTY PANTHERS

Carroll County boys basketball had a rough 2020-21 season both on and off the court, going just 1-14 while getting shut down three times due to COVID-19 exposures.

Head coach Jonathan Moore is gone, leaving to head home for the head coaching job at Franklin County, and has been replaced by veteran coach Doug Oak, who has been on a 15-year coaching hiatus since being in charge of the program at Trimble County.

Oak's first team in Carrollton returns four starters but will have to make up for the loss of senior Keishaun Mumphrey, who led the team in points (24.8 per game) and rebounds (11.8). Senior Jaxon Hewitt (6.8 ppg) is the top returning starter while classmates Andrew Shaw (6.5 ppg) and Luke Staley (3.8 ppg) will be expected to carry the load.

Carroll County opens the season today at Boone County and hosts Highlands Latin on Saturday.

CARROLL COUNTY LADY PANTHERS

Coach Hannah Devine's young roster went 11-15 in 2020-21 but with the valuable experience gained, the Panthers should be primed for a strong season ahead.

Carroll enters the season without its top two scorers and junior Courtney Strickland (8.8 ppg) will be called upon to lead the team. Sophomore Kaitlyn Hensley averaged 5.3 points last season as a freshman classmate Madie Hicks chipped in 5.1 ppg. Junior Grace Perkins was close behind at 5.0 ppg.

Carroll opened the 2021-22 season on Monday at Ludlow and heads to Western Hills on Wednesday. After traveling to Walton-Verona on Dec. 7, Carroll makes its home debut on Dec. 10 against Trimble County.

TRIMBLE COUNTY RAIDERS

Trimble County found its groove late in its 11-13 campaign a year ago, winning six-straight games at the close of the season before falling in the 31st District Tournament semifinals. Now coach Marcus Mumphrey's squad will try to build on that momentum this season.

There are plenty of reasons to believe the Raiders could have a breakout season, starting with the two athletic 6-foot-4 forwards up front who will carry the team on their shoulders. Junior James Thomas Wilcoxson (14.7 ppg, 5.5 rpg) and Tate Ogburn (12.2 ppg, 8.6 rpg) will be a load for opposing defenses and catalysts for the Raider offense. Ethan Horn (9.7 ppg) is ready to build on a strong freshman season and gives Trimble a strong top three.

Switzerland rides Craig's 30 points to 68-64 win over Austin

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Switzerland County freshman Cam Craig announced himself to varsity basketball in a big way Saturday by pouring in 30 points in the Pacers' 68-64 win over Austin at home.

Craig, who had 18 points in Switzerland's 82-64 loss to South Decatur in the team's season opener on Friday, was nearly unstoppable against Austin on Saturday, hitting 12-of-17 shots from the floor — including 2-of-3 from 3-point range, and 4-of-6 from the free-throw line. He also had nine rebounds.

Switzerland needed all of Craig's points to fend off the Eagles. The Pacers led 20-17 after the first quarter and 36-32 at halftime before taking a 53-50 lead into the fourth quarter. Switzerland held on from there for the four-point win.

Bryce Turner added 18 points for the Pacers while Jacob Williams had eight points, Bryce Wrightsman scored seven, Colton Tolbert had three and Trace Johnson had two.

Switzerland trailed by as many as 36 points in the loss to South Decatur on Friday before slicing the margin to 15 through the fourth quarter. Williams had 15 points and Canaan Johnson 14 for the Pacers.

Hunter Johnson scored 42 points on 16-of-20 shooting to lead the Cougars.

Switzerland, now 1-1 on the season, returns to action on Saturday at Crothersville.

Defending champ Bucks rout Pacers for 7th straight win

BY PHILLIP B. WILSON

INDIANAPOLIS — Giannis Antetokounmpo had 26 points and 13 rebounds and the Milwaukee Bucks extended their winning streak to seven, routing the Indiana Pacers 118-100 on Sunday night.

The Bucks led by five at halftime and pulled away with a 39-27 third quarter. Guard Jrue Holiday scored 11 of his 23 points in the quarter.

Much like the surging Bucks, who improved to 13-8, Holiday has been hot in averaging 19.7 points in the last four victories. He also had nine assists and seven rebounds against Indiana.

"Being able to go through the things we went through last year was huge," Holiday said of winning the NBA title. "We know we can make a run at any time."

Bobby Portis scored 15 points, Khris Middleton and Pat Connaughton each had 14, and Indianapolis native George Hill added 13 for the Bucks.

"We didn't have enough in the tank tonight," Pacers coach Rick Carlisle said. "We just had a very difficult night."

Caris LeVert led the Pacers with a season-high 23 points. Malcolm Brogdon had 16.

"They're the champions," said the Pacers' Justin Holiday. "It's going to be a tough game against them every time."

CHAMPS SEEK INSIDE HELP

In reference to multiple reports that the Bucks have signed veteran center DeMarcus Cousins, coach Mike Budenholzer acknowledged a lack of depth at center because Brook Lopez has played only one game due to a back injury.

"When you look at the depth chart and look at how we're subbing, depth at the big position is something that we could use," Budenholzer said.

Mixon runs for career-high 165 yards as Bengals crush Steelers

BY MITCH STACY
ASSOCIATED PRESS

CINCINNATI — Bengals cornerback Mike Hilton, who played for the Steelers for his first four years, got his first pick-6 at any level of football against his former team late in the first half Sunday.

Hilton's interception of Ben Roethlisberger put Cincinnati up 31-3 and seemed to serve as a symbolic turning point in the Steelers' longtime domination of the Bengals and the AFC North.

"To do it against those guys in a big division game, it couldn't be any sweeter," Hilton said as his teammates shouted and the music thumped in the locker room next door.

The 41-10 win by the Bengals (7-4) on Sunday followed a double-digit win in September, making it Cincinnati's first season sweep of the Steelers since 2009.

A 27-17 upset by the Bengals last Dec. 21 broke an 11-game winning streak by Pittsburgh in the series.

"Beating these guys, for me twice and for some of those other guys three times straight, is a big change of the guard in our opinion," said Hilton, who signed with Cincinnati as a free agent before the season. "It's given us a lot of confidence, and guys are excited to see how the rest of the season plays out."

Joe Mixon rushed for a career-high 165 yards and two touchdowns, Joe Burrow scrambled for a score and passed for another one as the Bengals crushed the Steelers (5-5-1) and kept them winless in their past three games.

Mixon, coming off a rugged 123-yard, two-TD performance in a win over Las Vegas last week, pounded away for 117 yards in the first half.

Shawe runs out of gas in 57-45 loss to Mustangs

BY JORDAN BEAR

Shawe Memorial fought hard from start to finish in its boys basketball season opener, but the Hilltoppers simply ran out of gas down the stretch as New Washington pulled away for a 57-45 win at Hilary Meny Gymnasium on Saturday.

Shawe opened up quickly and grabbed the early 9-7 lead after the first quarter but that didn't last. New Washington seized the lead in the second quarter and never relinquished as the Hilltoppers' inability to knock down a 3-pointer and struggles at the free-throw line ultimately doomed Shawe in the end.

"I think we have a lot of good chemistry on this team. However, sometimes you have those nights where shots just aren't falling. Tonight was one of those nights," Shawe coach Dan Hambrick said. "We were 0-for-11 from behind the arc and missed 12 throws. We hit half of those shots, we win this game."

Even with the Hilltoppers' struggles from behind the arc and from the free throw line, they were never out of the game. New Washington came out in the second quarter on fire, taking a 10-point lead and forcing a Shawe timeout.

The Hilltoppers responded with a rally after the timeout, scoring seven-straight points to close the first half and trail by only three going into the intermission.

Stephanie Hellmann

Shawe's Louis Liu (11) drives on New Washington's Connor Shaffer during Saturday's game in Madison.

However, New Washington made another run coming out of halftime to increase its lead to eight in the third quarter and Shawe was unable to dig out of that hole as the Mustangs went on to clinch the victory.

Hambrick said he likes his team but he knows there is still work to be done.

"It's game one. The nerves were there and some of these kids are getting significant varsity minutes for the first time," Hambrick said. "I like my team though. We play hard and never take a single play off. We still have some work to do, focusing on defense and rebounding, but we will get there. It's a young team and they're going to have some growing pains."

The Hilltoppers were led in scoring by Phillip Kahn with 13 points while Jack Grote scored 10 points and Eric Liu had seven points and 11 rebounds. Matthew Arthur and Mason Thompson each scored 15 points to lead New Washington.

The road doesn't get any easier for Shawe as it hosts the Southwestern Rebels on Friday night as part of a tripleheader of basketball at Meny Gym. Shawe's game with Medora, which had been moved to Tuesday, has been moved again, this time to mid-December, because of COVID issues within the Medora program.

"Anyone that thought Southwestern was in a rebuilding year had those thoughts put of their heads after the Turkey Shootout," Hambrick said, referring to the Rebels' 82-61 rout of Madison in their season opener. "It's going to be tough, it's going to be a big crowd and I just hope our guys won't be intimidated and come out and play hard."

Colts miscues prove costly as Bucs rally for win

BY MICHAEL MAROT
ASSOCIATED PRESS

INDIANAPOLIS — Indianapolis Colts coach Frank Reich knew immediately what the problem was Sunday.

So did quarterback Carson Wentz.

Five turnovers, four in the second half, and abandoning their run-first approach proved too much to overcome against the defending Super Bowl champions.

"Ultimately, when you make that many mistakes against a good football team, it's going to come back and haunt you," Reich said moments after Tampa Bay rallied for a 38-31 victory.

The ramifications from this loss could be lasting.

After winning five of six to climb above .500 and back into playoff contention, the Colts (6-6) failed to close the gap with division-leading Tennessee losing to New England. They also watched some other wild-card contenders jump ahead.

And it all seemed to change in an instant when the Colts were about to seize control.

Wentz had closed out the first-half scoring with a 4-yard touchdown pass to T.Y. Hilton on fourth-and-1, giving Indy a 24-14 lead. Then Wentz opened the second half by moving the Colts moving into position to potentially take a three-score lead.

That's when Bucs linebacker Shaquil Barrett shot up the field, jarred the ball loose from Wentz and recovered the ball at the Tampa Bay 35-yard line. Six plays later, Leonard Fournette scored for the third time to make it 24-21.

Coach Bruce Arians sensed the momentum swing right away.

"We felt like if we were going to stop the run and make him throw it 40 times, we'd get a few (takeaways) and we did," he said. "That strip-sack, I think, changed the whole ballgame."

From there, things went downhill fast for Indy.

The Colts essentially abandoned their run-first approach as Wentz dropped back on 26 straight snaps, making it more challenging to put the ball in their hands of their top playmaker, running back Jonathan Taylor. Afterward, even Wentz acknowledged he didn't realize he had run so many consecutive passing plays.

It was all by design.

Tampa Bay (8-3) dared the Colts to pass and Wentz did, throwing 44 times. He was picked off twice and lost a fumble.

Taylor, the league's leading rusher, had 17 carries for 83 yards and one score and caught four passes for 14 yards. But until Indy's final drive, Taylor had only 25 yards rushing.

"We couldn't get anything in the run game, just couldn't get one run to hit in the first quarter," Reich said. "Then we opened it up, we started play-actioning on first down and hit the big play to Ashton (Dulin). Things started opening up a little bit and Carson (Wentz) was hot."

But the one-dimensional approach allowed the Bucs to become more aggressive and they made sure it paid off.

A deep throw from Wentz to Michael Pittman Jr. was wrestled away by Antoine Winfield Jr. and the Bucs converted it into the go-ahead touchdown.

Hoosiers fire offensive coordinator in wake of poor season

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

BLOOMINGTON — Indiana coach Tom Allen fired offensive coordinator Nick Sheridan on Sunday, less than 24 hours after the Hoosiers completed their first winless season in conference play since 2011.

Allen also said he would take a $200,000 pay cut in each of the next four seasons. His contract runs through 2027.

For the past several weeks, there were indications Allen already had made up his mind about some offseason changes after the Hoosiers failed to meet expectations. More could be coming after Indiana finished 2-10, with its wins coming over Idaho and Western Kentucky.

"We've got to go into the offseason and make sure we fix the things that were part of the problem for how this occurred," Allen said after Saturday's 44-7 drubbing at Purdue. "Offensively, there were injuries, but that's not an excuse. I thought there were a lot of execution things that hurt us, too."

Sheridan coached Indiana's quarterbacks in 2017 and 2018 and became the tight end coach in 2019.

In 2020, he was promoted to offensive coordinator and the Hoosiers turned in their best season in more than half a century. Indiana entered this season with its first preseason AP Top 25 ranking since the 1980s (No. 17) and talked openly about the feasibility of winning a Big Ten Conference title.

Instead, it all went awry.

Starting quarterback Michael Penix Jr. and backup Jack Tuttle both suffered season-ending injuries. So did starting running back Stephen Carr.

Between the injuries and a brutal schedule that included six losses to teams that appeared in the top 10 during the season, Indiana managed to score just 11 touchdowns in nine conference games — five against Maryland.

"I want to thank Nick for his work and commitment to our football program," Allen said. "He is a good football coach and a man of tremendous character, but we are in the need of a reset on the offensive side of the ball. We will begin our search for Nick's replacement immediately."

Levis runs for 4 TDs as Kentucky routs rival Louisville 52-21

BY GARY B. GRAVES
ASSOCIATED PRESS

LOUISVILLE — Given the huge holes to run through and time to throw the ball, Will Levis gladly took advantage of both strengths.

Levis rushed for career highs of four touchdowns and 113 yards, and Kentucky scored on its first four possessions to cruise past rival Louisville 52-21 on Saturday night and win the Governor's Cup for the third consecutive time.

Big contributions by his feet and arm helped the Wildcats' junior quarterback outgain Louisville by himself (195-144) by halftime. With huge holes on draw plays, Levis rushed for TDs of 29 and 7 yards on their first two possessions, then followed Matt Ruffolo's 43-yard field goal with a 5-yard score with 1:53 remaining in the second quarter.

He added a 1-yard TD early in the third to put Kentucky (9-3) up 31-7 on the way to topping his previous rushing best of 108 yards against Rutgers on Nov. 30, 2019 while at Penn State. Levis also completed 14 of 18 passes for 149 yards to outshine Louisville counterpart Malik Cunningham in a matchup of mobile quarterbacks.

"We called the same play four or five times," said Levis, who matched his career high for TDs set twice this season, including last week against New Mexico State. "There were some run plays. I saw an opening, and it benefits to have a quarterback that has legs and can run."

Cunningham rushed for 2-yard TD to tie the game at 7-apiece and completed 12 of 20 passes for 145 yards before being taken to the dressing room with 10 minutes left. Evan Conley came in and threw an 8-yard TD pass and Maurice Burkley rushed for an 7-yard TD with eight seconds left for the Cardinals (6-6).

"They had the ball most of the first half and it was just one of those nights where it's just snowballing at that point," Louisville coach Scott Satterfield said. "If you're not doing something good on one side of the ball, you hope the other side picks you up. That didn't happen tonight."

Chris Rodriguez Jr. rushed 16 times for 121 yards and a 2-yard TD, Kavoisey Smoke added a 13-yard score and La'Vell Wright one from 41 yards. Wan'Dale Robinson caught nine passes for 97 yards.

Kentucky's third consecutive victory capped its first nine-win regular season since 2018. Most important for the bowl-bound Wildcats, they claimed the Governor's Cup for the fourth time in five meetings, including a third triumph on its rival's home field. Kentucky has won the past three meetings by a combined margin of 153-44; the series paused last year as both teams played conference-only schedules because of the pandemic.

NOBODY'S UNDERDOG

Despite consecutive routs of Vanderbilt and NMSU, Kentucky entered as a 2 1/2-point underdog to Louisville. That didn't sit well with Wildcats coach Mark Stoops or his team for that matter as they dominated the Cardinals a third straight time.

"I don't get it," he said of the spread. "It pissed me off, but I don't know. Check the score."

SIGNATURE MOMENT

Levis' 22-yard scramble early in the fourth quarter included making one Louisville defender miss badly before hurdling another. That highlight-reel play set up Smoke's TD two plays later.

THE TAKEAWAY

Kentucky took control quickly and effectively behind Levis, whose four-TD effort last week against NMSU included two turnovers. Giveaways didn't happen as he had plenty of running room and a clean pocket to pass. The Wildcats outgained the Cardinals 511-352 and shut down of an offense that had scored 93 points the past two games.

"For that offense to be effective you have to run the football," coach Mark Stoops said. "The physical presence has to be there, and it was there tonight."

Louisville initially looked like it might keep pace offensively with Kentucky, but its defense could neither stop nor contain Levis when he took off. That created a long day for that unit and a deep hole for the Cardinals that Cunningham's dual skills couldn't overcome. That leaves plenty of corrections to make before their bowl game.

Purdue takes back Old Oaken Bucket 44-7 at Indiana

BY MICHAEL MAROT
ASSOCIATED PRESS

WEST LAFAYETTE — Quarterback Aidan O'Connell started his Purdue career as a walk-on.

He may have closed it out Saturday with an unforgettable performance.

The fifth-year senior matched his career high by throwing for four touchdowns, helping the Boilermakers set a single-season team record for completions and bringing back the Old Oaken Bucket for the first time in three years with a 44-7 victory over rival Indiana.

"He stands in there, makes throws, sees things and has distributed it pretty dang well good the last few games," coach Jeff Brohm said. "He's come this far through some of our help but really it's a credit to him and his work ethic."

O'Connell has been sensational lately, throwing 15 TD passes and no interceptions in the last five games — leading Purdue to four wins. That run has given the Boilermakers (8-4, 6-3 Big Ten) their highest single-season victory total since 2006, their first Bucket win since 2018 and their most lopsided in the rivalry since a 62-10 victory in the late Joe Tiller's final game as Purdue coach.

With one game left this season, and perhaps another season also in 2022, O'Connell now holds the school's single-season and career records for completion percentage at 73.5% and 69.3%, respectively.

He got plenty of help from his teammates in the annual rivalry, which was canceled twice last season because of COVID-19. This time, the traditional themes returned — big plays, hard hits, loud chants and plenty of penalties on a rainy, windy afternoon that eventually gave way to clearing skies as night fell over cold, sold out Ross-Ade Stadium. And the Boilermakers wasted no time rushing to reclaim the prized trophy.

"It was a great day to be a Boilermaker," Brohm said, citing some wins by other Purdue teams Saturday. "It's a big win. We challenged our guy to come out and play a better second half. We thought we were a little sloppy in the first half and we did."

For Indiana (2-10, 0-9), it was more frustration in a season full of disappointment. The Hoosiers lost their final eight games and finished their first winless season in league play since 2011.

Purdue takes inside track to blow out Omaha

BY MICHAEL MAROT
ASSOCIATED PRESS

WEST LAFAYETTE — No. 3 Purdue accomplished one goal Friday by keeping the foot on the accelerator.

The bigger ones still lie ahead.

Zach Edey scored 20 points in 16 minutes, and the Boilermakers used their huge size advantage to pound Omaha 97-40.

Purdue outrebounded the Mavericks 53-22 and outscored them in the paint 48-16 while improving to 6-0 for the first time since 2015-16 and just the fourth time in coach Matt Painter's tenure.

"A lot of teams settle and they get comfortable and we had to build off the energy of last weekend," preseason All-American Trevion Williams said, referring to the sweep of No. 18 North Carolina and No. 5 Villanova. "Our goal was to come out strong and we did."

They did it all.

Williams had 14 points and 10 rebounds in 21 minutes. The Boilermakers shot 57.6% from the field and 52.6% on 3-pointers. Defensively, they were equally strong, allowing their lowest scoring total since routing Virginia 69-40 in December 2019.

Omaha (1-5) was led by Darrius Hughes with 13 points. It lost its fifth straight — all on the road — and produced its lowest point total since an 86-40 loss to Wisconsin in December 2012.

"We have to play these games," coach Derrin Hansen said. "We've played them all in the last eight or 10 seasons and this is the most complete team we have played. They can rise up and and make shots from anywhere and they get them from anyone. This team has a little bit of everything and a lot of some things."

Purdue was the highest ranked team the Mavericks have played in their 11-year Division I era and the disparity was clear from the opening moments. For the second straight game, Omaha took its only lead on its first basket — Dylan Brougham's 3-pointer.

The Boilermakers countered with a 29-0 run, a span in which they forced 12 consecutive missed shots and four turnovers. When Marco Smith finally ended the drought with 8:44 to go, the Mavericks already trailed 31-5.

The Boilermakers led by as much as 37 before taking a 52-17 halftime lead, matching its highest scoring total in any half this season. They methodically extended the margin throughout the second half.

BIG PICTURE

Omaha: Hansen's team never stood a chance with no players listed as taller than 6-foot-9. The Mavericks were outmatched on the perimeter, too. With six of the next seven at home, Omaha should simply leave this one in the past and focus on rebounding against a more manageable schedule.

Purdue: Edey, Williams and Caleb Furst dominated the middle against a much smaller team and with the Boilermakers going 7 of 12 on 3s in the first half, it was a devastating combination. While the Boilermakers cruised Friday, they'll need to be equally efficient against tougher foes.

POLL IMPLICATIONS

Purdue won't get much help from a victory over a team that was picked to finish eighth in the Summit League this season. But UCLA's loss to Gonzaga puts the Boilermakers in the mix for the No. 2 spot next week.

STAT PACK

Omaha: It started and finished a five-game road trip with losses to Indiana teams — Ball State and Purdue. ... The Mavericks lost starting guard La'Mel Robinson with a season-ending injury before the Nov. 9 opener. ... Omaha shot just 27% from the field and was 5 of 28 on 3s.

Purdue: Brandon Newman scored 16 points and Jaden Ivey had 12. ... The Boilermakers won after earning their highest pre-Christmas ranking since 1987-88. ... Williams was honored before the game for joining the school's 1,000-point club. ... The Boilermakers are 9-0 all-time against Summit League schools.

Trimble opens the season today at Dayton then hosts Shelby County on Thursday.

TRIMBLE COUNTY LADY RAIDERS

Trimble County graduated one of the top players in school history in Shelby Wilcoxson, but there are plenty of reasons to believe the Raiders can improve on their 13-13, district runner-up team from a year ago.

Trimble opens the season today at Dayton then hosts Shelby County on Thursday.

The biggest is sophomore Addison Edmondson, who looks likes a star ready to break out after averaging 10.2 ppg and 3.2 rpg while playing Robin to Wilcoxson's Batman last year. Edmondson is now the leader and will have a chance to shine.

Aiding Edmondson will be a young but talented roster also looking for a breakout season. Payton Butters (2.9 ppg), Gracie Jent (2.8 ppg) and Danielle Craig (2.6 ppg) each have big roles to play.

Trimble hosts Frankfort in its season opener tonight and heads to Western Hills on Saturday.

Matz finalizes $44M, 4-year contract with Cardinals

BY DAVE SKRETTA
ASSOCIATED PRESS

Steven Matz and the Cardinals finalized a $44 million, four-year contract Monday, giving St. Louis the shutdown left-hander it desperately sought for a rotation that otherwise returns intact next season.

Matz received a $2 million signing bonus, payable within 30 days of the deal's approval by the commissioner's office, and salaries of $8 million next season, $10 million in 2022 and $12 million each in 2023 and 2024.

He can earn $1 million annually in performance bonuses for innings pitched: $200,000 each for 130, 140, 150, 160 and 170. Matz also can earn $50,000 for winning the Cy Young and $25,000 for finishing second through fifth in voting, $25,000 if he is voted AL Championship Series MVP and $50,000 for World Series MVP.

"We're excited to have Steven join our rotation and bring his experience and talents to our team," Cardinals president of baseball operations John Mozeliak said. "Steven has proven himself to be a consistent contributor, and we think that his game will continue to excel here in St. Louis with the backing of our exceptional defense."

The 30-year-old Matz, who is originally from Long Island, spurned the Mets to sign with a National League rival. He pitched for New York from 2015-20 before he was traded last January to Toronto, where his career-best 14-7 record and 3.82 ERA in 29 starts for the Blue Jays made him a coveted starting pitcher in free agency.

He'll join a Cardinals rotation topped by longtime ace Adam Wainwright that also includes Jack Flaherty, Dakota Hudson and Miles Mikolas. The Cardinals also could use Alex Reyes, Jordan Hicks, Jake Woodford and Johan Oviedo.

The Cardinals were reportedly willing to give Matz a fourth year on his contract, whereas numerous other clubs were not, but they also offer arguably the best defense in baseball with five reigning Gold Glove winners: first baseman Paul Goldschmidt, third baseman Nolen Arenado, second baseman Tommy Edman, left fielder Tyler O'Neill and center fielder Harrison Bader. Arenado also won the Platinum Glove given to the best defensive player in each league.
